

Dr Charles Muteshi

Biodata:

Charles is an Assistant Professor of Reproductive medicine at Aga Khan University Nairobi. He is involved in running the Reproductive medicine service with a particular interest in assisted reproductive treatments and minimal access surgery with a particular focus on endometriosis.

He runs a clinical research Programme with a Grant from the Aga Khan University, University Research Council. He also supervises students for their Masters Dissertations who work alongside his research activities.

Topic of Presentation:

'East African experience of a Multidisciplinary Endometriosis Treatment Programme and Integration with Research